Our Corporate Finance team is celebrating this morning after receiving not one but two, but eight nominations for this year's Insider Media North East Dealmakers Awards!

Being shortlisted in so many categories really does showcase the breadth, depth and quality of both our team and the work we do for our clients.

This year, against an unprecedented macroeconomic and geopolitical background, the Corporate Finance team at UNW has grown on every level whilst continuing to deliver significant deal volumes and excellent client service across all transactions. We have delivered deals both within the region as well as heading complex multi-jurisdictional transactions.

We're proud to feature so prominently in the shortlists and to be recognised amongst some of the best in the North East dealmaking community.

Proud to say that my ACA exams are completed as of today.

After 3 years of uni and 3 years studying for ACA, hopefully (fingers crossed) I'll never have to sit another exam.

One of the hardest but one of the best things I've ever done. Weather was brutal, really hot, then really humid. I made it round a 10k after what I'd hoped for but was relatively pleased in the end.

Most important to me is expressing my appreciation for all of you who supported me in helping such a great cause. Thanks again.

Last Friday we ended the week with our annual UNW summer party at Brinkburn 50 Brewery, Bar & Kitchen for the second year running.

I had so much fun planning the night, and even more fun attending!

It was a great way to welcome over 20 new graduates and apprentices who started last week.

I was a video which shows some highlights of the night.

UNW pyjama tradition to treat us all to a takeaway lunch!

This month The George Guys came along to the office to serve burgers, wraps and loaded fries so we have a bit of happy staff members this afternoon.

I've been writing this article for UNW's internal wellbeing committee for a bit of personal experience, on how the change from Summer to Autumn can have an impact on wellbeing and mental health.

I always struggle a little bit at the start of October, from loving life one minute to feeling a bit crap seemingly overnight. My mood tends to level out after two or three weeks and I start to look forward to things again and get back to my usual self, but I know some people do struggle a lot more than that.

On WorldMentalHealthDay2023, I thought I'd share this article on LinkedIn, if you are not quite feeling yourself at the moment, it may help to explain a few things.

UNW Charity Bulletin | Summer 2023

Our latest Charity Bulletin is available to download at the link below.

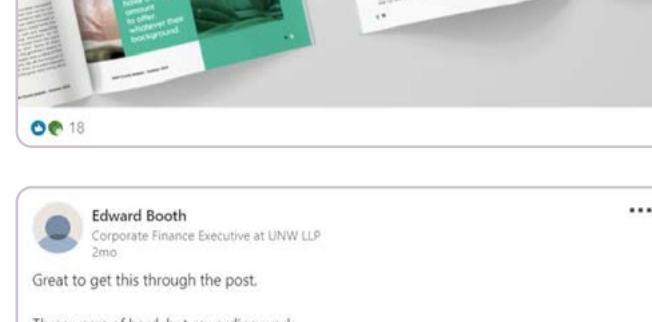

This edition contains an interview with Mark Thompson, Managing Partner of Ryder Architecture & Char of UNW's Charity of the Year 2023, Bright Red Charity.

We discuss his background, his involvement with Bright Red, the importance of business partnerships and some of the challenges the charity has faced.

Elisabeth, Anna Halliwell reflects on the Charles Act and Charles Underbar considers the current tax relief position of Gift Aid.

Full details of our next networking event at The Common Room can also be found within its pages, or you can register your place by contacting us at events@unw.co.uk or filling out the form here: <https://link.in/vbPdeW>

Had a brilliant day yesterday evening at the Insider Media North East Dealmakers Awards 2023 celebrating the region's advisory community who were out in full force.

We'll come to everyone up for an award and special congratulations to all the winners. A superb night was capped by UNW's very own Chris Wilson occupying Corporate Finance Advisor of the Year!

Chris has well and truly hit the ground running since arriving at UNW a little over 12 months ago, and it's fantastic to see all the hard work put in by him and the team being recognised in what has been a very successful year for our corporate finance business.

Another year, another growing graduate and apprentice intake at UNW!

On Monday, 13 new starters joined our audit team and we kicked off a week filled with training and fun activities to welcome them all.

It's slightly surreal that 10 years ago this week I was heading into my own first day in audit, getting a bit nervous, and with no idea of the experience ahead of me, and the amazing people I would meet along the way!

For the chance to feature in my annual photo next year, our graduate and apprentice applications will soon be opening for September 2024. If you would like a chat about UNW or the opportunities we have available please drop me a message!

Are you a charity fundraiser involved in developing the fundraising strategy of your organisation? Or a charity leader playing an active role in fundraising efforts?

Join us at our next Charity Briefing on Thursday 9th November in Newcastle upon Tyne as we delve into how the fundraising landscape has changed post-COVID.

In a discussion, from both sides of the table, around what has changed and what funders now expect, you will hear from three guest panellists on their different points of view.

Michelle Cooper, CEO at County Durham Community Foundation, will detail her experience from a funder's perspective. Catherine Marchant, a freelance charity consultant, will share her thoughts as an auditor for funding, and David Stockton from the Great North Air Ambulance Service will give us his take as CEO of a charity that relies more or less solely on public donations/fundraising events.

Personal pot but feeling very happy. Gave absolutely everything today to finish 6th place in the Inman 70.3 triathlon World Championship, New in Laid Fildan. The dedication and hard work has paid off to achieve my second fastest time ever (faster back in 2016). Now for a well deserved, very cold beer. 🍺

Slow and steady wins the race.

I would like to share that I have passed all of CPA Thailand exam!

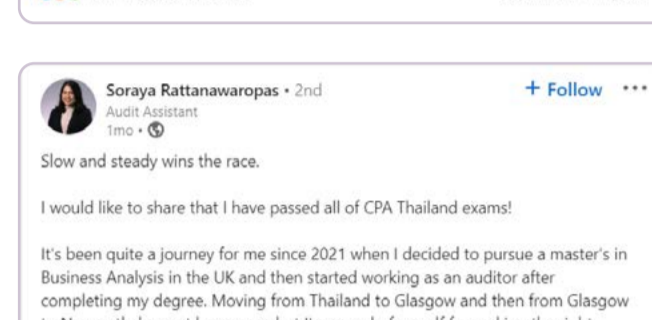

It's been quite a journey for me since 2021 when I decided to pursue a master's in Business Analysis in the UK and then started working as an auditor after completing my degree. Moving from Thailand to Glasgow and then from Glasgow to Newcastle has not been easy, but I'm proud of myself for making the right decision to embrace this new environment and seize new opportunities by stepping out of my comfort zone without any doubt.

I want to express my heartfelt gratitude to my family, friends, and colleagues for their unwavering support throughout this journey. It was all worth it in the end!

I also want to extend my thanks to KPMG Thailand for providing me with valuable knowledge and experience, which have made me a stronger professional today. It's been almost 9 years since I completed my Bachelor's degree, and the time has been well spent.

Additionally, I'd like to thank UNW for giving me the chance to gain auditing experience in the UK. I can hardly believe it's been almost a year since I started there in October.

Time has flown by, but as they say, where there's a will, there's a way!
